

Governors' Update – April 2017

As usual at our last full governing body meeting there was much of interest to discuss. As Jo mentioned in the last governor update, some of the governors had arranged to spend a day in school to give us the opportunity to see the school in action from meeting parents in the playground at the start of the day, spending time in the classrooms observing the exciting learning taking place, speaking to the children and staff as well as partaking of the school dinners provided by our catering team. All those who attended found it a very useful and enjoyable day. Those of us who couldn't attend on this date are looking forward to our turn in May. A

Again we were given updates on the building works and were pleased to find that work is progressing well. Currently all is going to schedule and due to the effective management of the works schedule by the collaboration between Mrs Bastin and her senior management team together with the building contractor, there has been minimal disruption to the children and their learning. We are all eagerly looking forward to seeing the finished article.

We also discussed the results of the parent survey. Thanks to all of you who took the time to complete them when we handed them out on the parents' evenings. We have had a good response rate which is really helpful to enable us to spot any positive or negative trends and gives us useful feedback on which to base any changes or improvements in all areas of school life.

Don't forget though, that you don't need to wait for a survey to give us any feedback or ask any questions you may have. We can always be contacted via the school and there are governor details on the school website too.

Gail Redmond, Governor